Crowd 'dissatisfied' with assessments; urges protests

A lively cross-section of area residents—sometimes boisterous, sometimes derisive—gathered Thursday night at the Nameoki Recreation Center with one purpose in mind—to vent their feelings about the new property assessment figures.

An explanation by Granite City Township Assessor Von Dee Cruse, who defended the reassessment figures as "equalization," did little to convince the standing-room-only crowd of between 500 and 600 people at the public meeting, called by Seventh Ward Alderman Paul Ray Bowler.

Significant of the widespread dissatisfaction with the reassessment figures, those present not only were property owners in the Seventh Ward, one of the hardest hit areas in the reassessment, but came from different sections of Granite City, Chouteau and Nameoki townships, it was noted.

A smattering of aldermen from other wards were there and, surprisingly, a few people from the communities of Madison and Venice.

higher than the citywide average.

Calls for statewide limitation on taxes, similar to California's Proposition 13, and the tying up of individual tax properties through objections, as practiced by large corporations, were heard during the meeting.

These suggestions frequently were punctuated by choruses of "Amen" or others have been paying less," the assessor said.

"We have almost entirely eliminated the 'opinion' method of assessment and arrive at the figures in a scientific manner. This township involves 13,000 parcels (of property)," he stated.

"Fair market value is not just a catchy phrase. Legally, it means the price established between a willing seller and willing buyer. Or, the price a buyer would be justified in paying given current market conditions."

Cruse said the current revaluation program was accomplished in the "best scientific manner possible."

Since the assessment list was published a week ago, more than 700 persons have visited his office, Cruse said, noting from this number 61 people have filed complaint forms.

He urged those dissatisfied with their assessment to "come down to the office and we'll go over the figures with you."

Cruse said his office will remain open each evening this week.

Disputing the assessor's claim that all property had been inspected prior to assessment, one man stated that a member of Cruse's staff admitted "after I hassled her a bit, that she and three other people had driven down my street and had inspected only three or four parcels."

"At first, she couldn't tell me what

Allen L. Jessee dies at 64

Allen L. Jessee (Al Iezzi), 64, of 2554 Westmoreland Drive, a retired executive vice-president of Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, died at 10:45 a.m. Thursday, Jan. 8, 1981, at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis.

He was born in Fort Worth, Texas, and moved to Granite City 28 years ago when he joined Granite City Trust in 1952 as loan manager. He celebrated his 26th anniversary with the organization in April 1978, and was elected to the board of directors in May 1978, while serving as executive vice-president.

Mr. Jessee received his bachelor of science degree in business administration from Washington University.

He was a member of Hope Lutheran Church and served with the U.S. Navy during World War II. Mr. Jessee received the Silver Beaver award from the Boy Scouts of America in 1974.

Mr. Jessee was a past president of the Evening Kiwanis Club, a past member of the St. Elizabeth Lay Advisory Board, and served on the board of directors at the YMCA.

He also was a member of the Chamber of Commerce, St. Louis Sports Hall of Fame and Toastmasters Club. Mr. Jessee was appointed chairman of the Business Division of the United Way fund drive in 1975.

Mr. Jessee had been ill for 10 months and was hospitalized for three weeks. He retired from his position at the local bank in June 1980.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Mary (Hasty) Jessee; two sons, Michael L. and David Allen Jessee, both of Granite City; two daughters, Mrs. Jeffery (Mary Lynne) Kutsche, Chicago, and Miss Carolann Jessee, at home; one brother, Leo Iezzi, St. Peters, Mo.; three sisters, Mrs. Otto (Rena) Bufo, Cincinnati, Ohio; Mrs. Clarence (Lucille) Lawson, Valley Park, Mo.; and Mrs. Ray (Eleanor) Fischer, Oklahoma City, Okla.; his mother, Mrs. Laura Iezzi, Cincinnati, Ohio; and two grandchildren.

Visitation was at Bob Thomas Memorial Mortuary, 2205 Pontoon Road and funeral services were held at 11 a.m. today, Jan. 12, at Hope Lutheran Church. Burial was in Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville Township. The family requests memorials be made to Hospice or Hope Lutheran Church.

Pardoned in murder, back in jail

Roy Martin Kurtak, 51, formerly of Granite City, whose name made the headlines several years ago when he was pardoned from Menard State Penitentiary by the governor, despite protests from the sentencing judge, is in jail again.

Kurtak, who has a history of burglary and violence, was sentenced in 1965 to serve 150 to 200 years in prison in connection with a July, 1964, fatal shooting in Wood River.

Kurtak, then a Granite City resident, and Bryan Stone were allegedly burglarizing the Trio Lounge in Wood River when they were interrupted by the custodian, Joseph Zappa, 23. They allegedly shot Zappa, who died several days later.

Kurtak and Stone were sentenced in 1965 by Judge Fred P. Schuman, Kurtak drawing the 150 to 200 year sentence for the shooting and 30 to 40 years for burglary, to be served consecutively. Stone received a sentence of 50 to 60 years for the slaying and a consecutive 30 to 40 year term for burglary. Both were said to be former prison inmates at that time.

The two were turned back into society in 1975 when the Illinois Parole and Pardon Board decided they had been rehabilitated. Stone also was pardoned by then Gov. Dan Walker because he had performed a heroic deed while in prison.

At the time of their release, state parole officers described their rehabilitation as exceptional.

Judge Schuman opposed the paroles in a 1974 letter to the parole board, in which he stated that both Kurtak and Stone "have been involved in numerous

'Blue ribbon' group to study values in Nameoki

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

A "blue ribbon committee" of experts in the mathematics and statistics field is being formed in Nameoki Township to determine whether the complete reassessment of the township by the county was done properly and within the state's guidelines.

Formation of the committee was announced Friday by Nameoki Township Clerk Douglas Teeter, who said three experts have already agreed to serve on the committee and others have expressed an interest.

Teeter said he feels it is imperative that the township determine how the recent reassessment was done and "let the chips fall where they may." If it is determined that the reassessment was done improperly,

Teeter cited one example of what he feels is gross unfairness in the recent reassessment of the township by the county. He said one woman whose house was assessed at about one-third of its fair market value last year had a 300 percent increase in her assessment this year. The woman's husband recently died and she is surviving on an income of only $4,160 per year from social security.

Last year she paid $795 in taxes. This year, with the reassessment and the increased sanitary sewer taxes, it is estimated she will pay $1,150 in taxes, more than one-quarter of her entire income.

"There is no way she can keep her house," Teeter contended. The example was pointed out to state legislators during a meeting in the home of Nameoki Township Tax Assessor Carl Macios Thursday night and the legislators agreed that legal remedies must be found to keep real estate taxes from driving people out of their homes.

Some of the remedies under consideration are switching of school taxes from the property tax to the state income tax; limiting the amount which assessments may increase per year to 25 percent; and decreasing the level of assessment for one year from 33 1/3 percent to 25 percent, the legislators present said.

Attending were State Representatives Sam Wolf and Everett Steele and Robert Ruffner, an administrative aide to State Sen. Sam Vadalabene. Vadalabene is recuperating from pneumonia, but told the Press-Record he is attempting to keep informed on the assessment issue in the Quad-City area.

Teeter and Macios said they feel the county reassessed all homes in

Proposes vote on annexation

State Sen. Sam Vadalabene told the Press-Record Friday that he has reintroduced legislation which would prohibit Granite City from annexing portions of Nameoki and Chouteau townships without approval of a majority of the voters of all townships involved.

Since Granite City and Granite City Township are co-extensive (sharing identical boundaries), annexation by the city of any territory currently places the annexed property automatically into the township, as well as the city.

For years, Nameoki and Chouteau Township officials have objected to Granite City "chewing up" their townships with annexations and reducing the tax rate. Nameoki objected to annexations in recent years of the Archer Daniels Midland soybean processing plant and grain elevators and of property on which Granite City High School North was constructed.

Chouteau Township officials last year objected to the annexation of an Illinois Power Co. tract along Route 3 for an industrial park. Pre-Cont Metals has since become the first tenant of that park.

Chouteau Township Supervisor Walter "Duke" Sparks was among those who asked Vadalabene to introduce the legislation. In a letter to other township supervisors in the county, Sparks said such legislation is needed "to prevent further township property grabs."

Hollis out of mayor race, backs Decatur

Glen R. Hollis announced during the weekend that he will not file for the office of mayor this year. Instead, he will support Warren L. Decatur, who disclosed his mayor candidacy Thursday.

Hollis, 3320 Wabash Ave., is plant superintendent in the wood shop of PCA Industries, St. Louis. He formerly operated a restaurant and a lumber company in Granite City.

The lifelong Granite Cityan said he favors a "common sense, business approach to city government" and commented that the proposals outlined by Decatur closely match those which he had in mind.

When he initially obtained candidacy petitions, Hollis said, Alderman Decatur had not yet decided whether to run for mayor. If the latter had not entered the race, Hollis would have run for the top city office in an effort to increase efficiency, he told the Press-Record.

NEW SEWER OFFICE. Gene Futch, left, superintendent of the new Four Township Sewer District, and his foreman, Paul Bennett, stand by the sign announcing what the mobile home office is. The two expect a flood of questions in the near future about tapping home sewers onto the new sewer lines, as the county board is expected to act during a special meeting at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday to approve sewage treatment rates for the new sewers. Use of the sewers can begin immediately following that action and the first tap-ops are expected within two weeks. (Press-Record Photo by Pat Foley)

BIBLE DELIVERANCE CAMPAIGN IS SET

A Bible deliverance campaign opened Sunday at the Assembly of God Church in Maryville, and will continue through Friday, Jan. 16, according to the Rev. George Ankarlo, pastor.

Evangelist Ken Krivohavek of Springfield, Mo., is the guest speaker and conducts services each weekday evening at 7:30. Rev. Krivohavek is a 1962 graduate of Central Bible College, Springfield, and has served pastorates in Missouri, Nebraska and Idaho before entering evangelistic ministry in 1967.

The host pastor extends an invitation to area residents to attend the services.

Davis sued in fatal crash

Three civil lawsuits were filed in Madison County circuit court last week in connection with the New Year's Eve, 1979, crash on State Aid 35 that killed three Granite City residents.

Arlin Davis, whose car allegedly crossed the center line to cause the accident, was named in the two suits filed by an accident victim's wife and ex-wife.

Those two suits also named three taverns that reportedly sold liquor to Davis the day of the accident.

The taverns were also the objects to the third suit, filed by Davis' wife, Shirley, and their three children.

A criminal trial against Davis in November resulted in a conviction for reckless homicide, driving while intoxicated and driving on a revoked license. Davis is to be sentenced this month.

The first suit was filed by Beverly Lehman, whose husband, Larry, and two children, Stacey and Nicole, died in the accident. Beverly survived the accident.

Her suit included 15 counts in behalf of her and her three family members against Davis and the three taverns: The Village Inn, 104 S. Donk St., Maryville; Charlie's Tavern, 204 E. Main, Maryville; and Elsie's Lounge, Route 6, Edwardsville.

Some of the counts ask judgments of more than $15,000 each, while others specify fair compensation for damages. A jury trial is requested.

The second suit was filed by Faye Tarrance of Salem, Mo., Larry Lehman's ex-wife. Her daughter by Larry, Lori, had been receiving support from Lehman.

The suit's four counts were against Davis and the three taverns.

The suit seeks a judgment of more than $15,000 for one count and more than $20,000 on each of the other three counts. A jury trial was requested.

The third suit, filed by Davis' wife and children, also blames the taverns for serving Davis liquor which allegedly caused his intoxication and led to the accident. The family, as a result, lost its means of support, the suit said.

Judgments in excess of $15,000 are sought on each of 12 counts.

Venice attendance and career education goals

By ALTHEA CROSS
Project Micro Director
The Title VI Project Micro basic proposal for 1981-82 has been received by the Application Control Center in Washington, D.C. The components will deal with instructional, human relations and staff development; punctuality and regularity in student attendance; and career education in the Venice School District.

The program for 1980-81 has been progressing through participation by teachers and students in various activities. Mini-courses in human relations are being conducted in various classes in the grade and high schools. Thus far, the juniors and seniors in high school, the seventh and eighth grades at St. Mark, and a second and third grade class will have completed their sessions during this quarter.

Field trips to aid in career choices and to enhance cultural enrichment have been planned.

The plays at Lindenwood College were "Grease" and "The Wizard of Oz."

Other productions will be viewed there as well as at the St. Louis Repertory Theater at Webster College, at theaters showing special productions through the American Theater Arts for Youth and at Powell Symphony hall.

Other trips were scheduled to the Granite City Press record, Erhardt Tool and Machine Shop, Gradwohl, Dental Health Theater on Laclede's Landing, River Roads Shopping Center, Continental Bakery, Susan Farms and the St. Louis Arch Museum.

Special assemblies and student workshops have been planned to inform the students about pertinent and timely subjects. The Dance Group from SUE performed recently as a part of the American Education Week activities.

The choir from Hanley Junior High, University City, and the band from the Lovejoy School District in Illinois will perform at the next two planned assemblies.

An in-service workshop led by Mrs. Shirley Deavens on "Enhancing communication skills through relaxation and motivational techniques" was extremely appropriate during this quarter.

Home visits were made by the Title VI team in the fall. Attendance certificates were awarded to grade and high school students for the first and second six-week periods. The honor roll is displayed on special posters beside each grade school classroom and on the special bulletin board in the high school.

Testing for information about reading and mathematics was conducted in grades 3-12.

The Student Council and Student Advisory Council were most helpful during the open house, parent conferences, assemblies and workshops in helping to see that everything was carried out in a proper manner. They are making plans now for an all school party.

The Title I and Title VI Districtwide Advisory Council is meeting monthly to allow members to monitor the present program and to make suggestions for fulfilling the objectives. The cooperation of classroom teachers with Title VI staff members has been extremely important in scheduling activities for the benefit of the students.

Reporting to Guerrant as chairman and president of Nestlé Enterprises, Inc. are The Nestlé Company, Inc., White Plains, Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago, and Nestlé-Libby (Puerto Rico), Inc.

Other companies reporting to him in his zone management capacity will be The Stouffer Corp., Cleveland; Beech-Nut Foods Corp., Fort Washington, Pa.; Nestlé Enterprises, Ltd., Toronto (with its two major divisions, Nestlé of Canada and Libby); McNeill & Libby of Canada; and Allan Beverages, Ltd., of Montreal.

Guerrant will maintain a permanent office in the company's headquarters in Vevey, Switzerland, and divide his time between Europe and North America.

He became president and chief executive officer of The Nestlé Company, Inc., in 1975.

From 1964 until then, he was associated with Libby, McNeill & Libby, serving in the successive capacities of marketing vice president, president, chief executive officer, and chairman of the board.

Earlier, Guerrant has been president of McFarland Aveyard & Co. and president of John W. Shaw Advertising, Inc., both of Chicago.

Assessor campaign heating up early

April is a long way off, but the two candidates for Nameoki Township tax assessor have made it clear they have begun their campaigns.

Yesterday, David Partney charged that the current tax assessor, Carl Macios, is unqualified to serve in the office, since he does not have the required state certification.

Macios responded that state certification is not required until a year after the upcoming election and, if elected, he will receive the necessary training. Macios also contended Partney is not certified either.

Partney also charged that Macios is using his wife, JoAnn, and son, Marc, to assess property when they are not certified. The annual cost to the taxpayers for the Macios family is $17,734, he says.

Macios says his wife does help with the office work and occasionally his son goes out to get some measurements or information on homes, but Carl Macios is the only one in Nameoki Township who does any actual assessing.

Macios further said the entire budget for operation of his department is $17,000 and he uses two other assistants occasionally, so the salary he pays his family is not that high.

Partney contends that the $17,734 paid to the Macios family includes Carl's salary as assessor, which is not included in his office's budget. Three other part-time assessors received $4,918 last year, although they are not certified either, Partney added.

Macios defended his wife's part-time employment in the tax assessor's office, saying she is paid only for the hours she spends working and does not receive paid holidays, vacations or fringe benefits. Since his office is in his home, it is more convenient to utilize his wife for the office, he said.

He said his methods of assessing and the use of his wife in the office are both seven year practices and there has been no criticism before.

One last claim by Partney was that only about eight percent of the township, or approximately 437 of the township's 5,466 pieces of property were reassessed in 1979, and such unsubstantial assessments were, in part, responsible for the county supervisor of assessments judging it necessary to have the county completely reassess Nameoki Township last year.

Supervisor of Assessment James Barton said his office is routinely reassessing every township in the county on rotation, except those with full-time assessing staffs, such as Granite City. Macios added a few allegations of his own to the issue, saying that Partney just ran for the Granite City Board of Education in April, 1979, promising to complete his term. He was elected and now will be unable to serve as both a school board member and as Nameoki Township tax assessor, Macios maintains.

Macios was forced to resign from the Granite City School Board when the Illinois attorney general's office ruled it was a conflict. Macios also charges that Partney's running against him is, in part, political revenge.

"When Partney ran for the school board, he asked our organization to support him. We told him we would not, but would not work against him."

"He asked Harold Davis (now supervisor of Nameoki Township) if he could join our organization and he wanted our Truth in Action Party to support him in his earlier state representative race and the group voted not to support him. He said something like he would get even."

"When I assessed his property at about $20,000, based on home sales in the area, he wanted me to lower it. I told him I couldn't. The Board of Review reduced it to over $18,000, but this year, the county has reassessed it at $38,000," Macios concluded.

Eagle Stamp firm has sound operations here

In order to put a few rumors to rest, the Eagle Stamp Co. is quite well and alive in the St. Louis metropolitan area, according to Henry L. Dahm Jr., executive vice president-general manager.

Despite the changeover from Eagle Stamps as made by National Super Markets last week, there remain several hundred active retail accounts who continue to issue and redeem Eagle Stamps within the St. Louis metropolitan area.

These include a substantial number of independent supermarkets, department stores, service stations, and others, including the 12 Famous-Barr Department Stores who issue and redeem Eagle Stamps.

There certainly should be no question as to the financial stability of Eagle Stamps, he said. Not only because of having survived three wars, one depression, several recessions, and other economic upheavals from time to time, but also by virtue of being a division of The May Department Stores Company, the third largest traditional retailer in the country.

"Furthermore, we are moving quite aggressively and, I might add, successfully, in increasing stamp usage and redemption over the past years and will certainly continue to do so," Dahm said.

Warning on herbal 'arthritis' medicine

William L. Kempiners, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, said last week that strong prescription drugs have been found in Chinese herbal products sold nationwide.

The manufacturers of these products suggest their use as remedies for arthritis, osteoarthritis, rheumatism, headache, anemophobia (fear of high winds), paralysis, back neuralgia, bone pain, acute or chronic neuralgia and other pain caused by rheumatism.

They are sold under the brand names, "Choi-fong Toukwan," "Long Life Brand Nan Lien Chui-fong Toukwan," "Long Life Brand New Formula Chui-fong Toukwan," and "Shou Sing Brand Chui-fong Toukwan," Kempiners alleged.

"People already on prescription medications for arthritis may be at greater risk from such products because of the possibility of overdose or drug interactions," he said.

The case of a 70-year-old woman who had been taking "Chui-fong Toukwan" has been reported. She was allegedly suffering from rheumatoid arthritis.

Laboratory tests have shown that some products contain doses of indomethacin, an anti-inflammatory agent with many serious side effects, hydrocortisone, a powerful diuretic, and chloridazepoxide, a tranquilizer. Tests also revealed the presence of lead and cadmium, Kempiners contended.

The products he referred to are in the form of hard, round, black or brown pills one-fourth inch in diameter. They are packaged in cellophane bags, glass bottles and brightly colored cardboard boxes.

"Pictures on the boxes depict men and women suffering back and leg pains. 'People taking the herbal products should stop,' advised Kempiners. 'After taking other medication, they should see their physician.'"

Kempiners said the Food and Drug Administration is asking state and local officials, the U.S. Customs, U.S. Postal Service and U.S. State Department for help in destroying existing stocks and preventing them from entering the United States from the Far East.

Conservation jobs for 36 teenagers

A $42,000 Youth Conservation Corps grant that will put 36 teenagers to work improving the environment next summer has been approved for a third year at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Robert Williams, associate professor of elementary and early childhood education, will direct the federal project, which is funded through the Illinois Department of Conservation.

Total cost is $85,000. Plans call for development of city parks in Edwardsville, including restoration of Springer's Woods and Lusk Park; upgrading of fishing lakes, an overgrown farm, bicycle and nature trails; prairie sites and recreational areas on the SIUE campus; and helping with a continuing survey of private and inactive cemeteries in Madison County.

"The YCC workers, all 15 to 18 years old, will get a first taste of the discipline of a 40-hour week and the pride in a job well done, in exchange for needed outdoor improvements," Williams said.

The improvements may also include expansion of the Roxana Nature Trail in Rosewood Heights, now used by science classes in the district, and help with possible renovation of the old Madison County Jail.

"We want to work on projects that will open up the environment and the local history to all the people for recreation, field study or conservation education," he said.

In the last two years, the SIUE group built or improved nature trails and bike paths now open to the public on the campus, reclaimed a hillside prairie, designed and built a preschool play area, and reconstructed a 1960-era log cabin.

According to Williams, one man was so impressed with the restored cabin that he talked his family into donating its older cabin to the university for a similar reconstruction that is included in this year's list of projects.

All labor for the two-month 1981 program will come from the teenagers, who will earn $3.35 an hour for 30 hours a week.

They will get 10 hours of education and recreation a week, including a planned canoe trip on the Meramec River, a try at a stress challenge course, and a day of exploring inside Mammoth Cave in Kentucky.

The YCC program at SIUE will employ 18 young men and 18 women selected at random by zip code numbers from the applications.

Additional information is available by contacting Williams at 692-3682.

Train and auto crash hurts 4

Four persons were injured at 9:30 p.m. Friday when the front of the northbound auto of Edward L. Nagle, 26, of 2905 Oregon Ave. hit the left side of a westbound Granite City Steel train engine at the Edwardsville Road railroad crossing near 19th Street.

Taken by ambulance and treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center were Nagle, cuts and bruises; his wife, Theresa Nagle, 25, of 2905 Oregon, who suffered a fracture; and Joseph Overturn, 19, of St. Louis.

Donald Nagle, 15, of 2416 Nameoki Road escaped apparent injury.

The train was operated by Kenneth Voss, 35, of Brees, Ill. Nagle said red flashing lights were operating but that he did not see the locomotive until too late. There were skid marks for 70 feet on the pavement when the auto was towed from the scene.

Probation in shooting case

Connie Farley, 23, of 644 Margaret Ave., Mitchell, has been placed on one-year probation by Circuit Judge William E. Johnson for a May 16, 1980, aggravated battery occurring in Granite City.

She was alleged to have been in a passing auto from which shots were fired outside Victor's Tavern, West 20th Street and Illinois Avenue.

A 26-year-old Granite City man was stabbed three times and later shot three times but recovered after undergoing surgery. Another Granite City man, 22, was shot twice and recovered.

Nameoki Township on the basis of a few sales of homes in an inflated real estate market, not on the actual values of the homes.

Township Supervisor Harold Davis authorized Tector to appoint a well-qualified committee to analyze assessment procedures used and to meet with the Illinois Department Local Government Affairs to determine proper methods of sampling, assessment, applicable laws and related material needed to determine if the procedures used in Nameoki Township were proper.

The committee then is to make any recommendations for changes in state or county guidelines, if they can. "We simply want to find out where the fault lies and let the chips fall where they may," Tector said.

The state representatives at the meeting endorsed the idea of the committee, he added.

Among those who have agreed to participate on the committee, thus far, are James Warren, supervisor of industrial engineering at Granite City Steel, who has the college background and professional experience to make him "highly qualified," according to Tector, and James Devine, an industrial engineer who has a masters degree in math and strong background in statistics, Tector said.

One other expert has announced he will aid the committee, but was not sure how much time he could devote, so he did not want his name mentioned at this time, and several others are considering serving, Tector added.

The committee hopes to recommend some legislative changes which would halt the present "see-saw" effect of assessments in which townships have a negative multiplier one year, followed by a large plus multiplier the following year.

The legislators at the meeting studied several examples of reassessed property and agreed that it appears some kind of sampling was applied by agency across the board in Nameoki Township, rather than assessing the market value of each home.

There was a three-hour discussion of the inadequacies of assessment laws and practices, such as the reassessment of whole townships by the county and the use of multipliers.

The legislators agreed that some legislation is needed to ease tax burden on property owners and to keep people on fixed incomes and others from losing their homes to taxes. They also agreed that, due to high inflationary market, homes are being assessed at too high of a level, partially due to a misinterpretation of the assessment laws.

Bills which might provide relief were discussed with three major ones being cited.

One would limit the amount any individual property would rise in assessment to 25 percent per year, until the home reached a third of its market value. Thereafter, it would be kept assessed in line with its value.

Another aid would be the elimination of the school tax from property tax and putting it on the state income tax.

Since school taxes are well over half of the property tax collected, this bill would help low-income persons and those with fixed incomes from paying increasingly higher taxes for schools.

It might also eliminate the need for multipliers, which the state uses to try and assure that every county pays its fair share to the school aid formula.

Such a bill already passed the state House of Representatives, but was allowed to die and will be reintroduced, the legislators felt.

A third way to aid the taxpayer would be a bill to replace the existing 33 and one-third assessment factor with a 25 percent assessment factor for one year and then continue to reduce the percentage downward automatically if the inflationary market continues to increase.

Rep. Steele said he has introduced legislation which would automatically apply the $3,000 assessment reduction of Senate Bill 1790 to all homeowners in the state. Currently, homeowners must fill out forms annually to qualify for the reduction in assessment.

A bill also was passed recently giving the state legislative body the authority to select an independent agency or legislative committee to interpret all laws passed by the state legislature.

This was done because of disagreement over the intent of legislation setting the 33 one-third assessment ratio ratio on a three-year basis. The legislators agreed that assessments should be based on a one-year basis, that is using the actual market value of the house for the year in which it is assessed, instead of averaging the last three years.

The same year, he received a one to three-year sentence for a burglary. After being paroled, he was returned to prison in April, 1969, on an armed robbery conviction which resulted in a five to 15-year sentence. He was paroled about a year before Mr. Zappa was slain.

After the Dongola burglary, Union County State's Attorney Rodney Cluts sought a 10 to 14 year prison term under Illinois law which allows the maximum punishment for a felony to be increased if the accused man has been sentenced for the same or a more serious crime within the last 10 years (not including time served in prison).

The maximum sentence for burglary is three to seven years in prison, but the maximum can be increased to 10 to 14 years if the accused man has been sentenced for the same or a more serious crime within the last 10 years (not including time served in prison).

Cluts later told a reporter after reading a pre-sentence report on Kurtak's background that it was not surprising that his 1974 parole caused a furor.

Kurtak may be eligible for parole again in about three years, with good behavior.

County to vote Wednesday on sewage treatment rates

New sewage treatment rates for the sanitary sewers in Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships are expected to be approved during a special meeting of the Madison County Board at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday in the county courthouse at Edwardsville.

The board also is to consider whether the county will support a request for a union election to determine what union will represent county employees.

The tentative sewage treatment rates were approved by the Granite City Council last Tuesday night and were endorsed in a special meeting of the county's special sewer committee Friday night.

Passage by the county board will finalize the rates and allow tap-in permits to be issued by the sewer district.

Since Granite City constructed the treatment plant which will be used by both the county and the city, county users will pay the fee for treatment.

The rate agreed upon in negotiations between the city and the county sewer committee is $18 per quarter (three months) to the city, which includes $18 for treatment and current bond retirement and $5 per debt retirement, to repay a portion of the money Granite City residents have already paid on the bonds used to construct the plant.

In addition to paying Granite City for sewage treatment and bond retirement, users of the new sewers will have to pay the county sewer district approximately $17 per quarter for maintaining the sewers and lift stations, operating the sewer district and billing services.

That will make the quarterly bill for households approximately $35 per quarter, or between $11.50 and $11.75 per month.

The agreement also notes that should the $13 per quarter basic treatment fee Granite City residents now pay increase or decrease, the rate the county residents must pay for treatment will increase or decrease proportionately.

There is additional incentive for the county board to endorse the treatment rate agreement, since the county has loaned $700,000 to the sewer program and cannot recover that money until the sewers are ready to operate and the EPA releases its final payment of the grant upon final approval of the sewer system.

The other item on the agenda for Wednesday's meeting is whether the county should join with Teamsters Local 525 of Alton in calling for an election of county employees on which union will represent them.

Approximately 400 employees now represented by the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) Local 796 are involved. The county and AFSCME have over representation of the county employees blocked negotiations between the county and AFSCME on a new contract, even though the two sides were said to be very close to an agreement, which would have included retroactive pay raises.

AFSCME President Pamela Dymas of Madison has said the union will oppose the union election, because she is confident AFSCME will win and holding the election will be the fastest way to resolve the issue and complete negotiations on the new contract.

Plan special activities

Several special events are planned in January and February by the Parents for Special Education. It was announced this week.

Future plans of the organization will be discussed at a meeting, scheduled at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 20, at Central Christian Church, 2020 Johnson Road, Melba Grady, president of the parents' group, said.

Bowling is continuing on Saturdays at the Granite City Army Depot. Bus pickups are at 1 p.m. at St. John United Church of Christ and at the Press-Record parking lot at 1:15 p.m.

Bowlers return to the same points about 3:30 p.m. and the cost is $1 for three games, with shoe rental included. Children of any age may take part in the bowling program, Mrs. Grady said.

The group's next roller skating party will be from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Jan. 19 at the Stardust Skating Rink. Cost is 75 cents and any age level may attend. Parents also are welcome.

A dance at the Niagara School in Alton is arranged for Friday, Jan. 23, with those wishing to attend being asked to call Kay Hahne at 451-9832 as soon as possible to make transportation plans.

Another dance for handicapped persons, 15 years and older, is scheduled from 7:30 p.m. until 10:30 p.m. Feb. 13 at the Venice Recreation Hall.

Donation is $1 per person and Howard Bollen and Stagecoach will play music for dancing.

Mrs. Grady said the group will launch its annual fund-raising drive later this month, seeking community support to ensure the continuation of recreational activities for the handicapped.

The drive also will make possible the attendance of handicapped youngsters and summer camp, she advised.

This year—1981—has been proclaimed by the United Nations as the Year of the Disabled, it was announced.

Gov. James Thompson has signed a proclamation for the State of Illinois to take an active part "to involve all citizens in grassroots efforts to emphasize public awareness, public acceptance and public involvement in the council's eight-point program aimed at improving the lives of America's disabled citizens."

The program involves "expanding access to education and employment opportunities; removing physical barriers from buildings and transportation; increasing community participation; reducing disability through accident and disease prevention; overcoming negative stereotypes and strengthening public attitudes of support and understanding; and improving medical research and rehabilitation."

A large percentage of students are eligible for different forms of financial aid, but do not apply. With rising inflation in an uncertain economy students and parents are urged to explore all possibilities of financial aid.

Venice over Indians

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record
VENICE—Venice won its third game of the season here Saturday night, and the Red Devils looked like they might just be putting it together.

Venice (3-5) ran up against a tenacious defense against Altamont, but had enough offense to beat the Indians 55-42. The loss dropped Altamont's record to 8-3 on the season.

"We looked good on defense," said Ken Perkins, Venice's head coach. "But Altamont is tenacious. They throw up a tough defense. We need to work on our offense."

Venice showed just how tough its defense could be in the first quarter when it held the Indians to only five points. The Red Devils led at the quarter stop 12-5. After leading 25-17 at halftime, Venice saw its lead trimmed to 37-32 at the end of the third period. The Indians outscored the Red Devils 15-12 in the third quarter.

"They made a run at us," said Perkins. "But in the fourth quarter, we were able to blow it back up."

Two of the main reasons for Venice's fourth quarter success were Archie Gardner and Henry Wise. Gardner scored 18 points and Wise 10 in the game. "Archie had a good game," said Perkins. "And Wise played very well. I thought. He directed things well."

Keith Marchbanks was a terror on the boards for the Red Devils. He grabbed 21 rebounds. Venice outscored Altamont 18-10 in the fourth quarter to walk away with the victory. But Perkins wasn't entirely pleased. "We didn't play well offensively," he said. "Of course, Altamont's defense probably had a lot to do with it. It's hard to say."

Altamont, which owns a victory over Granite City North this season, was led in scoring by Dick Meier with 19 points. All three of Altamont's losses this season have been on the road. The game in Venice Saturday was the Indians' seventh straight road game.

The junior varsity Red Devils defeated Altamont 61-60.

This Friday, Venice will host Marquette (Alton). The junior varsity game will begin at 8:30 p.m., with varsity action beginning at 8.

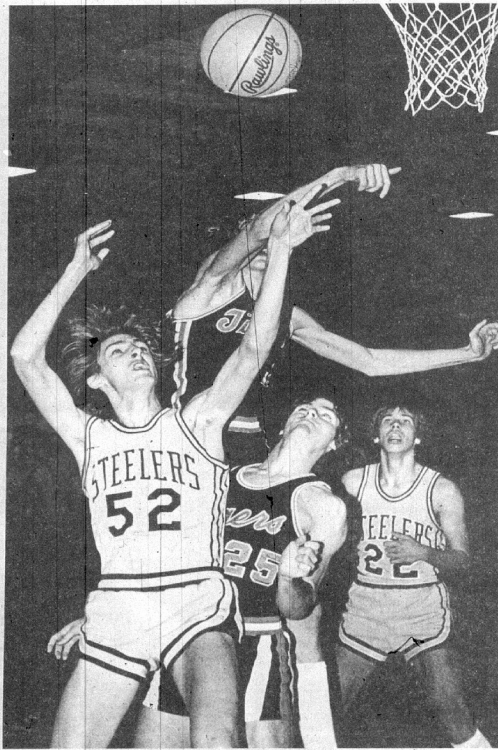

North and South remain unbeaten

GRANITE CITY — There have been 13 teams that have tried to hand the Granite City North wrestling squad with its first loss. The Steelers remain undefeated and 12 teams have failed, but one managed to come close here Saturday.

In a double dual meet at North, the Steelers found out how close it was to going down to defeat, but they managed to hold on. The Pekin Dragons tied North 24-24. North bounced back, though, and walked on Peoria Richwoods 37-17 in the second dual of the day. The Steelers overall mark now stands on 12-0-1.

There were so many factors that turned the score against North's favor against Pekin. First there was the absence of Mike Robinson from his 105 pound position. Out with the flu, Robinson gave up the spot to a junior varsity player, Rich Rash. It cost the Steelers, as Rash lost 16-10.

"I think the difference in the meet was Robinson being out," said North head coach

Steamers whip Hartford Hellions

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Steamers weren't in the sick bed very long. They came home here Saturday afternoon and whipped the Hartford Hellions 7-3 after dropping a 7-1 verdict Friday night at Buffalo.

The victory Saturday upped the Steamers' record to 14-4. But the win didn't come easy. In fact, the Steamers fell behind 2-0 early in the second period. After Mickey Cave and Bill McNicol gave the Hellions a 2-0 lead, the Steamers erupted. First it was Tony Glavin. He scored goals at the 11:33 and 12:56 marks to tie the score. Then Don Ebert scored at the 14:36 mark off an assist from Yilmaz Orhan and the Steamers had the lead.

Emilio Romero gave the Steamers a two-goal lead at the 7:06 mark of the third period. But Cave came back with an unassisted goal at the 10:13 mark to bring Hartford back to within one goal at 4-3.

But the third quarter belonged to the Steamers. Ebert started things off at the 3:20 mark when he scored off an assist from Sam Bick. Orhan then scored at the 9:12 mark after getting an assist from teammate Ty Kehough to make it 6-3. Ebert got his third goal of the game for the "hat trick" just eight seconds later at the 9:20 mark of the period.

St. Louis was without the services of several key starters Friday night because of the flu.

Cahokia routs South

Collins dunks South

By TOM SCHOCKER
of the Press-Record

CAHOKIA — Was it maybe something they said or does John Collins just like to play against the Granite City South Warriors. Whatever the reason, Collins tied off again on South and Cahokia romped to an 82-53 win here Saturday.

The last time these two clubs bumped heads, Collins had a scoring field day when he pumped in 40 points. In that game, he was the only Comanche to break into double figures. But, who else needed to score?

Against the Warriors, Collins didn't look as impressive. He "only" tallied 27 points. However, he had a supporting cast that burned South with a 59 percent shooting performance.

"When I looked up and saw he (Collins) had 21 points at halftime, I inserted a cock-eyed defense that was prepared just for that situation," said Warrior head coach Don Zetler.

"It was a 1-2-1 zone defense with a man on Collins. I'd be darned if that son-of-a-gun was going to get 40 again."

South's defense was sufficient enough to stop Collins, but it couldn't prevent Cahokia from placing four other Comanches in double figures.

When South's George Sykes' first shot attempt was slapped away, the Warriors had to believe it was going to be a long game. "We got beat by a good basketball team," said Zetler. "I knew the only way we could win was if we played a super game and they didn't."

The Warriors' effort was not that bad as they hit on 41 percent of their attempts (67 from the free throw line). Cahokia (11-1) just played better.

In addition to leading the team in scoring, Collins also added a game high 14 rebounds. He was joined in full force by James Williams with 11. As a team, the Comanches crushed South on the boards, 40-18. "I knew rebounding would be a problem," said Zetler. "We kind of stood around at first and conceded every rebound to them in the first half. We then started to come around." Eric Waltenberger led the Warriors with six.

About the only thing the Comanches did wrong was commit more turnovers. "We made some mistakes," said Cahokia head coach Ken McBride. "We didn't play perfect. It was a total team effort, though. I think the loss in the holiday tournament helped us. It made the kids realize that we had to take it to the others teams."

The Comanches took it to South in every which way.

Four of the five starters for Cahokia hit in double figures with Roland Johnson dropping in 18 points, 13 in the second half. Williams added 13 and Ron Wuelling had 10.

The only starter failing to score was Freddie Duncy. But, he really didn't have, too. He dashed up 10 assists. "Anytime you come into a ball game against a ball team like Cahokia, you have to play perfect," said Zetler. "We had hoped to get them in a mental let-down. But, not tonight."

Waltenberger's second half surge for South, both on the boards and with his offense couldn't make up the large point difference. Waltenberger teamed with Ken McManus for scoring honors with 14 a piece. After the first third of the season, it might be strange to say, but the loss snapped South's three game winning streak as the Warriors drop to 3-10.

GRANITE SOUTH (53) — Eric Waltenberger 14, Ken McManus 14, George Sykes 8, Jim Chast 8, Joe Schenke 2, Dave Edwards 2, Tom Tracy 2, P.J. Pitts 1, P.J. 1.

CAHOKIA (82) — Jon Collins 27, Roland Johnson 18, James Williams 13, Ron Wuelling 13, Larry Myers 5, Eric Robinson 4, John Sweeney 2, Randy Gaudin 2, P.G. 2, P.T. 10, Granite South 8, 13 17 15-53, Cahokia 16 24 22 20-82

Tigers hit stride in romp over Steelers

GRANITE CITY — It was once thought, having the home court would play to your advantage. But, when you're in the midst of season like the Granite City North basketball team is having, nothing seems to go your way.

Now at 0-11, must be tough on the Steelers to hash through a weekend against two of the best teams in the area. North paid the price as it was man-handled 73-39 here Saturday by Edwardsville and equally molested 79-32 by Cahokia here Friday.

"The only story is that we couldn't shoot well enough to stay with them," said North head coach Bill Ohlendorf. "There is not to much you can say when the other team is better than you are. I'm just glad we got them out of the way."

Despite the obvious one-sidedness in the scores, the Steelers were in the both contests for at least a quarter. It was their inability to put the ball through the basket that allowed the margin of difference to expand beyond proportions.

When it met up with the Tigers, North managed to remain within a reasonable distance after a quarter at 17-10. The two point shot was a foreign item from there on. The game was all but over when the Steelers could only produce four second period rallies.

"We were in the game early," said Ohlendorf. "We just didn't shoot well. You can't do that and expect to stay with these teams."

North was able to cut the Edwardsville scoring machine in Paul Schaefer. He racked up just 20 points, but the Tigers placed two other players with the same total. John Woods equalled Schaefer with 20 while Bruce Dickman tallied 18.

On the other side of the ledger, the Steelers didn't have an offensive show to shout about. Harold Rody paced North with 12. No other Steelers made it into double figures, but Kendall Whittington came close with nine points.

"We have had only two games where we shot over 40 percent," Mater Dei and Highland," said Ohlendorf. "We were in those games."

North played it close again against Cahokia for a while. Drawing even closer than the Edwardsville game, North could have taken the lead. Down only 13-10 late in the first quarter, Ohlendorf had to feel about his team's performance. "We came out and played hard in the first quarter," said Ohlendorf. "That good feeling slowly turned to indigestion, as the Steelers began to fade. Two points was all the second eight minutes of play could be scratched up by North. A disastrous second stanza for the Steelers saw the Comanches total up 20 points and a once reachable lead turned to indigestion, as the

East shocks Collinsville

COLLINSVILLE — The Collinsville Kahoks rarely lose at home. It's almost a major news event when they do. But they did it this weekend — twice.

Collinsville lost to Belleville East here Saturday night 45-43 after being thrashed by Gateway East Conference power Edwardsville at home Friday night 79-51.

East's Steve Switzer made two free throws with four seconds remaining in the game Saturday to give the Lancers the victory. The Lancers are now 2-8 on the season, while Collinsville dropped to 7-7.

Friday's loss to Edwardsville was the worst defeat ever for the Kahoks in Fletcher Gymnasium and their worst defeat ever since a 31-point loss in 1971. The win gave the Tigers a 9-3 record heading into Saturday's game at Granite City North (see related story).

JON FRANGOULIS of Granite City South looks up at the clock Saturday after tying up his bout with Peoria Richwoods' Larry Arnold in the final seconds. South won its dual with Peoria and another with Pekin to remain undefeated. Granite City North also stayed unbeaten, beating Richwoods and tying Pekin 24-24.

Trojans whip Assumption in 'dome

By TOM SCHOCKER
of the Press Record

ST. LOUIS — It was just another ball game for the Madison Trojan. Except, this particular contest here Friday wasn't like all the rest. Sure, they were just playing the Assumption Pioneers, but the contest was held in the Checkerdome. Riding high on an eight game winning streak, the Trojans made good use of their elaborate surroundings.

It took Charles Claggett and Pat Hatter only 16 minutes to give Madison its 11th win of the year against one defeat as the Trojans buried Assumption 79-40.

As a scheduled double-header, Madison and Assumption played warm-up to the St. Louis University Billikins-Alcorn State game. After the Trojans got done, it's a wonder the college boys had a place to shoot. There certainly weren't any nets left.

You might want to have called it the Claggett and Hatter Show. Madison rolled in 38 first half points. The two made 34. For all practical purposes, Hatter's backboard shaking dunk to close out the first half, closed out the game in Assumption. It was the culmination of a spree of 11 straight points that put Madison in front by 19, 38-19. "They're (Assumption) not that bad of a ball club," said Trojan head coach Larry Graham. "Ted Daniels is a hell of a coach. I really don't know what was the matter with them."

When a team scores six points in each of the second and third quarter and winds up losing at a 38 percent like the Pioneers, something has to be wrong.

The second quarter was disastrous enough for Assumption, but the third frame was embarrassing. Madison reeled off 18 unanswered points and the game was out of hand. "What can you tell a team, except not to be selfish," said Graham. "Our shot selection was not good at times, though."

Maybe Assumption was in the clutch ave about playing in the Checkerdome. But if you looked at Madison, you would have thought it was playing in its own gym. The fact of the matter was Madison shot a remarkable 51 percent from the floor and 70 percent from the charity stripe.

"It was hard to shoot out there," said Graham. Once he got started, it was O.K. said Hatter and Claggett got started, you mean.

Claggett missed just five shots in 14 attempts while hitting 7 for 11 from the free throw line for a game high 25 points. Hatter, likewise, shot well, pumping in 10 of 16 for second spot honors with 22. And both players sat out for most of the third quarter and all of the final frame.

Tony Berry paced the Pioneers with 19 points, 13 coming in the second half and 11 in the fourth quarter. It turned out to be Assumption's biggest stanza as it scored 15.

There was another aspect of the Checkerdome that played to Madison's benefit. "The court was a longer," said Graham. "We could get a little more fast breaks. It gave us easy buckets." The Trojans were working with easy baskets all night.

With Madison completely dominating the boards, rebounding Assumption 51-25, the fearsome twoosome (Claggett and Hatter) were on the end of many a fast break. They also started quite a few. Hatter yanked down 15 rebounds, dished up six assists and stole the ball six times. What more can you ask for?

Claggett added to the muscle with 10 rebounds and got mpsl of his talents from Koryn Stanley who handed out a game high nine assists.

South comes back to whip Belleville

By TOM SCHOCKER
of the Press Record

GRANITE CITY — Gary Morgan nervously clutched his hands together as he watched his Granite City South girls basketball squad battle it out with Belleville East Thursday night. Why wouldn't he be nervous. It was his head coaching debut and the season home opener for South.

After his girls had fought back to win the game 55-42 over the Lancers, Morgan breathed a sigh of relief. "I couldn't hold my breath during the game, I was too busy yelling," said Morgan. "To say the least, I'm very relieved the game is over. I'm glad it was close game. It proved we could handle pressure."

When it counted most, the Warriors took matters into their own hands, because the final score doesn't reflect the actual closeness or fierce struggle between the two clubs. "I was talking to some people before the game and they asked me if I had to pick a score for this game, I would have thought it would go into overtime," said Morgan. After 24 minutes of play, the contest was heading in that direction.

Before the season, Morgan said that Chris Boyd would be a big factor in whether the Warriors could win. But, said couldn't do it all herself. She needed to have help from, at least, one other person for South to play well. When the Warriors needed it most, they got that help from Terri Schuler.

After South had battled back from a seven point first half deficit, only 13 points were tallied by both clubs in the third period. But it was Boyd's shot at the buzzer that knotted the score at 37 and injected a big dose of adrenalin into the Warriors and Schuler.

Picking off three Lancer passes and converting them for lay-ups, Schuler played a major role in South's string of nine unanswered points early in the fourth quarter. It was the kind of boost that put the Warriors in total command.

Terri (Schuler) changed the whole game," said Morgan. "Nobody was having a good game in the first half and I said that Boyd needs one other player. Schuler was that player." Before fouling out, Schuler picked up eight of her 14 points in the second half and six in the fourth quarter. A period that saw South outscore East 18-5.

When South needed the points, though, it went to Boyd. Crashing the boards with undue authority, she pulled down a team high 13 rebounds. Unable to stop her, the Lancers only alternative was to foul. Boyd, did they foul. Three East players had to sit the bench early with five fouls, while three others played with four.

"The fouls took away our primary ball handler," said East head coach James McFaney. "We had to use our weak side rebounder for that position and then the game was over."

Of course the fouls put Boyd to the free throw line 19 times. Converting on 12 shots, she threw in game high 24 points.

Warriors romp past Shells again

ROXANA — When Don Deterding said that his Granite City South Warrior basketball team's season usually gets turned around when it does good in the holiday tournaments, he wasn't kidding. Although the Warrior's one-sided win over Roxana, 82-57 here Friday, wasn't a major change, it was a start.

As the South defense goes, so goes the success of the Warriors. The other two wins have proved that and one of those was a 13 point victory over Roxana. So, when South held the Shells to a mere seven points in the each of the first and third quarters, all the Warriors had to do was put the points on the board. And they did that in fine fashion, too.

The most notable contribution came from the South bench. Dave Edwards and Tom Tracy pumped in 15 and 10 points respectively in reserve roles. "That's 25 points off the bench," said Deterding. "They're seniors and they deserve to play. I have decided to with those two off the bench."

Eric Waltenberger headed the offense for South with 17 points as George Sykes chipped in 12 and Ken McManus added 10. "Offensively, it was the best game all season," said Deterding. "I just can't single out any one player. The seven ball players that I went with did a super job."

It was the Warrior defense that made the difference, though. It caused the Shells to turn the ball over 33 times. "I don't want to be too critical on the defense, but 37 points is just too much," said Deterding. "They can play better." Bo Kratschmer led Roxana with 14 points and Dan Walker had 10.

PINKNEYVILLE — Two Granite Cityans advanced to the State Elks Hoop Shoot Finals here Saturday by winning their age groups at the district contest at Pinkneyville High School.

Madison's basketball Trojans, the top-ranked team in the Press-Record small school poll, have received a first round bye in the annual Dupo Invitational Tournament. Madison received the top seed in the tournament and will face the winner of tonight's 7 o'clock shoot-out between Columbia and Valmeyer in the tournament's semifinal Wednesday night at 7. The winner of that game will play for the championship at 8:30 Friday night.

In the lower bracket of the

seven-team tournament, St. Louis South the Day will play Pattonville, Mo. at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, while host school Dupo will tangle with Belleville St. Henry at 8 p.m. in the last quarterfinal contest.

The winners of Tuesday's games will play each other Thursday night at 8. That game will be preceded at 6:30 by a game between the Tuesday night losers, the winner of which will play at 5:30 p.m. Friday for the consolation championship against the Valmeyer-Columbia loser.

The third place game will be played Friday at 7 p.m. The tournament was originally scheduled to be an eight-team affair, but Lovejoy (Brooklyn) High, which originally had a contract to participate, dropped out because the Dupo Tournament would have been the third tournament of the season for it. Illinois High School Association regulations prohibit any team from taking part in more than two invitational tournaments per season.

Last season, the IHSA banned Lovejoy from playing in the next-season Dupo Class A Regional because it had participated in three tournaments during the 1979-1980 season.

Jones, Batey All-America

BELLEVILLE — Mark Jones and Bob Batey, two freshman soccer players at Belleville Area College from Granite City North, were named to different All-America teams here this week.

Jones, along with teammate Austin Hudson, was named to the National Soccer Coaches Association Junior College All-America team. Jones, who holds the season scoring record at North, was moved to the backfield this season by BAC. Both will receive a diamond ring from the coaches association, with the year they made All-America engraved on it, at the annual NSCA convention in Houston Jan. 14-17.

Batey, who was named the Player of the Year in Region IV (which includes all of Illinois at part of Wisconsin) was named, along with Hudson to the National Junior College Athletic Association all-America team. Batey, one of the most feared midfielders in junior college soccer this season, was named to the first team All-America squad. Hudson was given Honorable Mention.

With the honors given to Jones, it marks two All-Americans in the same family. His brother Dennis, also a GCHS North graduate, was named All-America at BAC in 1975.

Alton upsets Flyers

ALTON — The Alton Redbirds, fresh from a 72-69 win over Belleville East Friday upset East St. Louis here Saturday night 61-60, for their second win in a nine-game season.

Collinsville made only 15 of 23 attempts from the floor for a frigid 26 percent. Madison wasn't exactly red-hot, but the Trojans did make 19 of 59 shots for 32 percent.

KEEP AWAY. Granite City South ought to schedule Roxana more often. The Warriors won their third game of the season Friday night ... their second over Roxana. At top, a Roxana player guards the ball as South's David Edwards closes in. Above, South's Jim Choat dribbles the ball away from the shells' defense.

STEVE SMITH of Granite City North controls his opponent from Pekin Saturday afternoon during the Steelers' tie with the Chicks. North remained undefeated for the season.

win at 105. Miller was given a rest at 112 as his opponent forfeited and Smith made quick work of his man at 119 as he pinned him early in the second period.

Unger made it five in a row when he squeaked out a 3-2 decision at 126. It was then North ran into problems. Steve Gibson lost again at 132. This one came by a pin in the second period while Thompson at 138 and Brian Corey lost heavily, 14-1 and 15-2 respectively.

The Steelers managed to stay away from the loss column for the last four weeks. Scott Corey didn't even break a sweat as he stuck his man just 46 seconds in his match at 145. Patton had an easier time winning by a forfeit at 167, but Wyrstok at 185 and Owens at heavyweight had to both settle for 2-2 ties.

With just over half the season completed, North begins the home stretch. One that won't be a piece of cake by far. "We can ill-afford any let downs or mistakes," said Whitaker. "It was good to have two meets in one day."

It helps us prepare for the districts where they might have to wrestle two or three matches in one day. We just have wrestle as hard as we can from here on."

ST. LOUIS — Continuing their strong wrestling dominance on the road, the Granite City North Steelers capture their 10th victory in a row here Friday. North lost just two matches enroute to a 44-11 romp over McCluer North.

The first loss came when Rick Rash lost at 105 by a pin in the second period. The other loss came when Glenn Thompson at 138 dropped his bout 6-2. It was clear sailing from there on in.

The Steelers produced four pins. Greg Nemeth set the tone of the meet with one at the 2:38 mark of his 98 pound bout. A revived upper weight class came up with the other three pins.

Scott Corey at 155 pinned his man in the opening minutes of the final period. Bob Patton completed his quickly at 167 with a pin in the first frame as Tim Wyrstok rounded out the affair with a pin in the second stanza at 185.

The biggest surprise was from Brian Corey at 145. A weight class usually occupied by Monte Kessler, Corey, who defeat Kessler in a challenge match earlier in the week, had no trouble winning his bout, 9-3. Gerald Miller took a shutout at 112, 4-0. Steve Smith edged a one point win, 7-6, at 119 and Rodney Unger at 126 won 4-1.

Steve Gibson was forced into a 2-2 tie at 132 as Dave Owens finished the meet with a handshake. He was given a forfeit win at the heavyweight class.

Cougars inconsistent in romp over UM-KC

Special to the Press-Record

KANSAS CITY — The Southern Illinois Cougars at Edwardsville University, now 7-10 after walloping the University of Missouri-Kansas City here Saturday night, displayed a lack of consistency which has resulted in their current losing record.

The Cougars of Coach Jim Dudley must find a way to put together two consistent halves of basketball if they hope to finish with a winning season. They probably should start soon. The Quincy College Hawks come calling on SIU-E next Saturday night in the Edwardsville High School gym at 8:30 p.m.

Against the U-M-KC's Kangaroos, the Cougars proved they are capable of playing outstanding offense and defense, for 20 minutes. They led UM-KC 31-14 at halftime. In their 17 games thus far, the Cougars have held first half leads in 12 of them. They have only won seven.

It could be this simple: SIU-E is a young club. There isn't a single senior on the squad. SIU-E's two "veterans" are starters Ted Smith and Scott Kabbes, both sophomores. Dennis Funneman, also a sophomore, completes the veterans with most starting experience.

Freshman standout Henry Felton and freshman center Bob Gray give the Cougars a potentially awesome nucleus. Add 6-11 Junior Joe Pickowitz, 6-7 Randall Jones (Madison High grad).

Smith paced the Cougars at Kansas City with 21 points. But his free throw streak ended at 19 when he missed his fifth attempt of the game.

Kabbes and Ron Padgett pumped in 13 points each. Funneman had nine, Felton added eight, Pickowitz and seven and Murray had six for the Cougars. Cory Wiseman led UM-KC with 21 points.

Redbirds ready for the indoors

NORMAL — A rugged indoor meet schedule includes the Missouri Valley Conference championships for the Illinois State University track squad, but coach John Coughlan has some experienced athletes to face it.

One of the highlights of the 1981 indoor season will be the Missouri Valley championships, Feb. 28 and March 1 at Horton Field House.

Coughlan returns seven athletes who have competed at NCAA championship meets, including outdoor all-American runner Mike Matteson of Aurora (West). Senior Vince Davis of Alton was an NCAA finalist in the high jump last year.

The mile relay team of Junior Brian Little of Peoria (Woodruff) and Ernie Davenport of Madison returns after advancing to the NCAA indoor finals last year. MacDougall also ran the 600-yard dash at the nationals.

Junior Mike Baker of Granite City (North) was an NCAA finalist in the mile last season.

"We should be strong and competitive," said Coughlan. "The schedule dictates that we should point for certain meets. After the opener, we jump right into tough competition against Big Ten schools in the Wisconsin Invitational."

Coughlan also wants his team in peak condition for the Jan. 24 home meet with MVC rival Southern Illinois.

"SIU is a big meet for us because of the Valley and the rivalry we have established," he said.

Coughlan also called the Illinois Intercollegiate (Feb. 6-7) and the Central Collegiate meet (Feb. 20-21) important ones for the Redbirds.

"It's a tough schedule because we meet Big Ten and-or Missouri Valley Conference competition in every meet but two," said Coughlan. "That's what we need, though, is the best schedule we can run."

Volleyball

ST. LOUIS — The Gold Cup Volleyball League is currently planning its winter season of men's, women's, and coed leagues. League play will begin late in January, and each team will play 12 weeks. Beginners and skilled players are welcome as individuals or as whole teams—teams will compete against teams of similar ability. The deadline for entry is January 24. For more information, please contact Rich at 644-6880; the best times to call are between 7 and 10 a.m. and between 4 and 5 p.m.

McKendree over Cougars, 75-66

LEBANON — The McKendree College Bearcats edged the SIU-Edwardsville basketball Cougars here Wednesday night, 75-66. And they had to come from behind to do it.

SIU-E had a 33-23 halftime lead, but lost it gradually in the second half. The game marked the first appearance for McKendree of two of the most recruited high school players from this area — Steve Lanter, former starting guard at the University of Illinois and John Jankowski, who led Nashville High to the 1978 Illinois small school state title.

Lanter quit at Illinois last season because of knee problems, but has since decided to return to college basketball. This is his junior season. Jankowski spent a season at the University of Tennessee-Chattanooga.

Lanter scored five points for the Bearcats. Jankowski scored eight. McKendree was led by Stan Elfrink with 27 points and Gary Haveman with 25 SIU-E, which dropped to 6-10 on the season, was led by Ted Smith's 20 points and Scott Kabbes' 16.

Monday night, the Cougars gained revenge on the University of Missouri-St. Louis for an earlier defeat with a victory.

SIUE-UMSL SIU-E downed the University of Missouri-St. Louis 88-74 at the Edwardsville High School gym Monday night, avenging an earlier 55-54 setback in St.

Louis. The victory, which raised SIU-E's record to 6-9, came on the heels of an overwhelming loss Saturday to the Division I 12th-ranked University of Illinois in Champaign. Nothing like a good victory to sooth the pain.

The Cougars of SIU-E set the tempo, something they didn't do in the early-season loss to the Rivermen. "We couldn't let them set the tempo this time," said Dudley. "When we're running our press well, it disrupts the other team and gets us more into the game."

But UMSL head coach Tom Bartow saw the game a little differently. "It was the worst college basketball game I've ever seen," he said. "Our ball-handling was terrible." Each team had 25 turnovers in the game.

The Cougars showed their pressure tactics early. Dennis Funneman, 6-9 forward, guarded the UMSL players who were inbounding the ball. That caused several UMSL miscues.

In the first meeting this season between the two teams, the Cougars had the lead and let it slip away. "We made a vow not to let that happen this time," said Dudley. "I think we've made improvements since the first game. We play with more of a purpose."

"Our mistakes are aggressive ones, instead of inexperience ones."

TONGUE-BITER. Granite City North's Harold Roddy (34) concentrates as he heads for the basket Saturday night against Edwardsville.

Freight tonnage sets record here

A record tonnage of 76.4 million tons of freight moved through the Chain of Rocks Locks 27 during 1980, it was reported by the Army Corps of Engineers, St. Louis district.

Freight movements which were primarily grain shipments were 12.4 percent over the 1978 figure which was a tonnage record until that time.

Tonnage was down in 1979 because of flooding on the Illinois River part of the year and low water on the Mississippi during another period of that year.

New records for barge traffic on the Mississippi during 1980 occurred also at Locks 24 at Clarksville and Locks 25 at Winfield where tonnage movements rose "dramatically," the report said.

At Locks 26 at Alton, freight tonnage moved up to 68.6 million tons, up 14 percent over the previous high.

The Kaskaskia river lock north of Chester had 2 million tons, up 22 percent.

Nameoki residents invited to meeting

Nameoki Township Tax Assessor Carl Macios is asking township residents to attend one of two public meetings he will host to discuss reassessments in the township and to provide residents an opportunity to fill out assessment protest forms.

The meetings will begin at 7:15 p.m. on Tuesday, Jan. 13, and Thursday, Jan. 22 in the Nameoki Town Hall, 4250 Highway 162.

According to Macios, "We plan to discuss and offer advice on assessment objections and to help residents fill out forms to appeal the county-mandated assessment increases for review by the county Board of Review." Macios said. "We also will inform the taxpayers of pending legislation which may reduce assessments in future. An attorney will be on hand to answer any legal questions the residents may have," he added.

A similar meeting was held in the Guth family home last week, attended by about 35 persons. Those present agreed to distribute protest forms through their neighborhoods and to assist neighbors in filing protests with the Board of Review.

Each was provided with objection forms and flyers prepared by Macios' office explaining how to fill out the objection forms.

Hospice honors late director

Mark Thomas Whiteside of St. Louis, formerly of Alton, was killed Dec. 22 in Venice, Florida. David Lee Whiteside, 40, who was piloting the private plane, was also killed, and his 16-year-old son Eric was injured. The threesome were flying to Tampa to meet more family members for a Christmas reunion when they ran into fog and hit some high-voltage wires.

Residents to pay 3% tax total

Although Quad-City residents will enjoy a penny cut in the state sales tax on foods and many drugs, they still will pay a 3 percent tax because of the local 1-cent tax, some merchants pointed out here Friday.

The reduction in the state sales tax from 3 percent to 2 percent became effective Jan. 1 under a bill signed into law by Gov. James Thompson.

The 1-cent sales tax for municipalities remains in effect, however, making the total tax on those items 3 percent.

The first penny of the state sales tax on food and drugs was eliminated in January 1980.

Effective Jan. 1, all sales of foods for human consumption (to be consumed off the premises where it is sold) and prescription and non-prescription medicines, drugs, medical appliances, insulin and certain other items were to be taxed at 2 percent of the state sales tax.

Sales of medicines and drug pills, poisons, salves and other preparations declared on the label to have medicinal properties (for human use) are included in the 2 percent tax.

The 1-cent tax for municipalities allows a monthly distribution of sales tax funds to the cities, based on the 1-cent tax collectable from local sales.

It is used primarily for its purpose—and in Granite City, Madison and Venice finances a share of city operations.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Oberkfell

Oberkfell-Petroff

Miss Dora Kay Petroff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Petroff, 2607 E. 23rd St., and Lawrence Edward Oberkfell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Oberkfell of Maryville, were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony on Nov. 15 at St. John United Church of Christ.

The Rev. Sheldon Culver performed the 2 o'clock ceremony before an altar decorated with vases of yellow mums and greenery, and burning tapers in brass candleholders.

Organist Dianne Limberg accompanied her husband, Randy Limberg, as he sang, "We've Only Just Begun," "Our Wedding Song," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Petroff chose a white organza gown designed with a fitted bodice, oval neckline and long tapered sleeves, accented with Chantilly lace motifs etched with seed pearls.

The skirt was created with triple tiers of organza bordered with lace which extended into a chapel train. She wore a wide brim hat enhanced with a back veil of chiffon and she carried a Bible topped with a silk floral arrangement of roses and baby's breath.

Sharon Pryor, a sister of the bride, served as matron of honor, with bridesmaids, Faith Pryor, a niece of the bride, Nancy Gulledge and Bonnie Oberkfell, relatives of the groom, and Chris Fine and Patty Barfield.

They were dressed alike in A-line sleeveless spice polyester gowns complemented with floral jackets.

Each attendant held a silk yellow rose tied with gold and yellow streamers.

Angie Kovach, a cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a rust polyester frock accented with ruffles on the sleeves and skirt, and she carried a wicker basket of fall flowers.

The groom's cousin, Jay Walker, was the ringbearer. Kenneth Oberkfell attended his brother as best man.

Groomsmen and ushers included Chris Petroff Jr., Leonard Petroff, brothers of the bride; Larry Gulledge and Billy Hunsche, cousins of the groom; Gus Oberkfell, an uncle of the groom, Brad Fine and Keith Oberkfell, the groom's cousin.

Candlelighters were Cheryl Walker, a cousin of the groom, and Marie Ann Radford, the groom's sister. Linda Hunsche, another cousin of the groom, attended the guest book.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Petroff selected a peach floor length gown enhanced with a jewel trim at the empire waistline and worn with a matching chiffon capelet.

The groom's mother was attired in a formal length peach dress fashioned with chiffon sleeves and a matching cape. Both mothers wore corsages of white silk carnations.

A rehearsal supper was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. William Gunsche, an uncle and aunt of the groom, in their home in Troy, Ill.

The newlywed couple received 400 guests at a reception held at the Edwardsville Moose Lodge after the service. They departed for a wedding trip to the Ozarks and are now residing in Maryville.

A 1974 graduate of South High School, the bride is employed as a teller at the First National Bank of St. Louis.

Inflation is a destructive cancer, must be curbed now

Dr. George R. Marotta, senior research fellow, Hoover Institute, Stanford University—Inflation continues to be the number one problem in the minds of most Americans today.

What is inflation?

An increase in the money supply. Most of us think of it as an increase in prices, but this is the result, not the cause, of inflation. The problem is too many dollars chasing too few goods.

Who started it?

The federal government, since only the government can legally print money. Action by the Federal Reserve board and system creates money and controls the total money supply and interest rates. If the Fed does not cover a deficit by creating new money, the Treasury has to sell bonds that are paid for out of private savings.

When did current inflation begin?

About 1967, when we started running federal budget deficits to finance our expanded Vietnam war involvement, the new Great Society programs, and putting a man on the moon by the end of the 1960s. Around 1966, Americans debated whether we should have guns (Vietnam) or butter (social programs). Not only did we decide under President Johnson's leadership that we could have both, we also decided we would pay some of the costs later.

That should have been a signal that we were making a mistake. If those actions were so important to our society, why didn't we pay for them at that time?

Budget deficits—insufficient revenue to finance the level of spending—have been a common feature since the 1966 Full Employment Act. Trying to use Keynesian fiscal policies to limit unemployment has led to federal deficits in 24 of the last 29 years.

How is inflation measured?

In its effect (higher prices), rather than in its cause (the volume of money). The consumer price index (CPI) measures how many dollars it takes to buy the same group of goods and services each month. Using a base of 100 in 1967, the index hit 200 in the last half of 1978; in 12 years, you needed two dollars to buy what one dollar purchased previously.

What have been the recent levels of inflation?

U. S. inflation averaged 1.6 percent a year from 1947 to 1967; in the next decade, it averaged 7 percent annually, and it now is running over 10 percent. The CPI increase for the first quarter of last year was a 13 percent compounded annual rate, the sharpest rise since the third quarter of 1974.

(Inflation at the wholesale level climbed 11.7 percent for all of 1980, the Labor Department said Friday. This was down only slightly from the 12.5 percent rise in 1979, despite an increase in unemployment from 6.3 million people at the end of 1979 to 7.8 million now.)

To make matters worse, particularly for low-income people, the prices for the four necessities within the CPI (food, fuel, housing and medical care) rose at an annual rate of 16.4 percent.

Who gains and who loses from inflation?

Although it is generally thought that everyone loses, this is not so. Some lose more than others, but a small and growing number gain.

Older folks on fixed pensions (not adjusted to the price index) are losers and have suffered the most. People who recently sold houses have been winners. Those who borrow money have been winners in the inflation game because they can pay back the loan with "inflated" dollars, reducing the real interest charge.

People who save are losers, and they lose twice. Their rate of interest earned and the principal are reduced by the rate of inflation. And they pay taxes on interest they really did not earn.

Wage earners in general have been neither winners nor losers; they are now making in real terms about what they made in 1970. (But the trend is toward smaller real earnings.)

Owners of stocks and bonds have lost. People on Social Security have won, contrary to public opinion, as payments have stayed ahead of inflation (at least until now). Many of the unemployed have winners, because 35 states have cost-of-living escalators in their unemployment compensation formulas.

It is ironic that government, the main cause of inflation, is one of the main beneficiaries. This occurs because government revenues automatically rise faster than inflation as people's inflated incomes push them into higher tax brackets.

Why should we worry about inflation? It is something that all too many learn to live with and don't get too worked up over, because most individuals feel powerless to do anything about it. However, it is a divisive element in our society—a slowly working cancer that is destructive to our basic values.

Since most people equate inflation with higher price levels, business is blamed for causing the problem. Labor seeks higher wages to keep up with the increased prices; business raises prices because it anticipates higher wages and, perhaps, controls.

Inflation encourages spending beyond our means. Our spending and borrowing accelerate as we try to get out of dollars, which decline, into properties that will retain or gain in value. Our tax laws encourage borrowing, with their interest deduction allowance.

The eroding value of the dollar reduces respect for our government and society, both here and abroad. It affects other values by turning our world upside-down. Saving and investing, previously virtues, become gambling, while spending and borrowing become investing.

A society cannot debate its currency without affecting its other values. The work ethic diminishes in direct proportion to the instability of the value of wages. Individual responsibility is eroded by uncertainty regarding the future value of the currency.

Is inflation going to get worse?

Yes, if we don't take the right steps. Since government caused the problem, government will have to do the most to solve it.

It will take a lot of discipline for our society to control government budget deficits and to limit the growth of the money supply. The danger exists that inflation could become so ingrained in our decisions that it will rise beyond our control.

How can we solve it?

To be effective in curbing inflation, we must:

A. Understand its causes.

B. Redirect our efforts from seeking hedges against inflation and take the necessary actions, individually and collectively, to fight inflation.

C. Recognize that trying to profit from inflation is dangerous, because most of the steps we can take in the direction just add fuel to an already overheated economy. A boom can be followed by a bust in which all of us would lose big.

Things that can be done include limiting government spending to reduce and then end deficits; adopting policies to encourage saving and investment and to reduce incentives for borrowing and spending; reducing governmental regulations; investing in new technology to improve productivity; and taking steps to reduce unemployment.

My aim is to be productive. I would like to see government at all levels responsive to the needs of our people with public service. With previous experience as an educator, carpenter, professional people, etc. This experience can benefit society.

First Ward alderman

Candidate wants to keep busy

To the Editor:

Some people may wonder why a person runs for public office. I, too, have asked the same question. In my particular case, I am not running for the sake of publicity or advertising to improve my status in life or financial gain.

Furthermore, I do not have an unlisted telephone number and will be accessible to all constituents, as I am presently retired.

The alderman position and city's interest should not be used as a pawn to enhance and expand an individual's personal business. I believe the people of our ward deserve better response and communication with their problems.

My decision to be a candidate for First Ward alderman is based on my ability to devote 100 percent of my time to the city while in retirement.

I am in good health. My physician stated that people have a better chance for longer life if they are actively busy, both physically and mentally. In our country, we have a vast amount of talent and knowledge which is wasted, such as retired teachers, carpenters, mechanics, professional people, etc. This experience can benefit society.

News notes

Illinois unemployment rose from 8.5 percent in November to 9.4 percent in December, second only to Michigan's 12.3 percent. The figure is the highest in this state in 40 years, except for last July's 9.8 percent. Nationally, the jobless rate declined slightly from 7.5 to 7.4 percent last month.

New estimates show mandatory auto exhaust testing might cost $13, instead of $870, and that average repair cost might total $20 instead of the previous range of $10 to $20. Mike Hayes, deputy manager, Air Pollution Control Division, Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, now says that "the estimated benefits in air improvement don't seem to justify the cost."

William A. Redmond, speaker of the Illinois House, last week introduced gasoline, cigarette and alcohol tax hikes to provide state highway repair funds and to aid the Chicago area mass transit system. Redmond, who plans no leadership role in the new legislative session, proposes to change the 7½ cents a gallon gasoline tax to 10 percent of the sale price.

A series of explosions in electrical transformers at Bellevue Area College at 1:19 p.m. Friday cut off power and halted registration for the semester starting Jan. 17 and 19. No injuries occurred and there was minor damage to the boiler house. Registration is to resume this week.

Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer has nominated Rich Hunter of Glen Carbon, a property manager for the Cassens family of Edwardsville, as a commissioner of the Madison County Housing Authority, subject to approval by the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs. He will succeed Mary Jean Davis, whose resignation for personal reasons was accepted by the MCHA board Thursday.

The Madison County Housing Authority currently is considering a ten-year extension of its contract with the federal government regarding annual subsidies. To keep housing projects under federal control after their bonds are retired, the Housing and Urban Development Department is seeking to make such contracts mandatory rather than discretionary.

Madison County dairy farmers will attend the 1981 area dairy day Wednesday at 10 a.m. at the American Legion hall in Breese. Agronomy day will begin at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at the Farm Bureau auditorium, Edwardsville, and the 1981 urban pesticide dealer clinic is set for 9:30 a.m. Thursday at Bellevue Area College.

A hearing will be held at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow in Room A1, Stratton Building, Springfield, by the Illinois Commission on Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities. Topic will be state plans affecting the delivery of mental health, developmental disability, alcoholism and substance abuse services.

The central services and finance committee of the Madison County Board last week recommended that Price Waterhouse & Co. conduct $87,000 study of county governmental data processing and accounting systems. County Auditor Arthur Fields has been studying the procedures, with more manual tasks converted to computers.

TRAVEL PLANS are discussed with the help of an area map by, from left, Bob and Jennifer Dippel, 2450 State St., hosts to Dave and Jo Wynne, guests from New Zealand. The Wynne family spent a week here visiting points of interest in the area and shopping at various shopping centers before leaving Friday for a visit with relatives in England.

New Zealand family visiting here finds Americans friendly, helpful

By DONNA KIMBRO

Friendly, courteous and helpful people formed the first impressions of Americans for the Wynne family upon their arrival in this country from their New Zealand homeland.

Dave, his wife Jo and children, Lisa, Sonya, Maria and Matthew, arrived in Granite City for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dippel, 2450 State St., enroute to England.

Mr. Jennifer Dippel is a former resident of New Zealand and married her husband Bob, while he was serving with the Armed Forces in New Zealand 13 years ago.

"The most notable differences in the two countries in relation to family living is the cost of most necessary items are much less in the United States, Jo Wynne explained.

"We do not have many of the household appliances that are taken for granted here such as automatic washers and dryers, popcorn poppers, electric knives, dish washers and other kitchen helpers, Mrs. Wynne commented, but we do not have central air conditioning or heating as the climate in New Zealand is such the two utilities are now needed as they are in this area."

The visitors live on a five acre tract of land near Canterbury located on South Island of the Dominion of New Zealand. Temperatures are mild in most parts of New Zealand. Sea breezes cool the islands in summer and keep them fairly warm in winter. A west wind blows most of the time, so that there is not much fog. Snow is unusual on the plains, but mountain ranges are snowcovered throughout the year.

Central Otago, on South Island, is both the hottest and the coldest temperatures. This region gets as warm as 95 degrees and as cold as 18 degrees. Rainfall is well distributed over the island, but the west coast usually gets a little more moisture than the east. This is especially true on South Island.

In other comparisons relating to family living, Dave Wynne noted an average family 4 or 6 cylinder automobile costs $16,000 and gasoline is $2.64 per gallon.

Wynne said, "With the high cost of essential items we are very careful to take care of them and cars in New Zealand must be tested every six months for safety features and must be repaired immediately."

People of New Zealand take great pride in the appearance of their vehicles and if it is dented or otherwise damaged repairs are made right away, Wynne noted.

Homes in New Zealand cost about the same as in this country and the government provides a lending system which offers the buyer with an 8 per cent loan for 30 years. Wynne said that although home-buying is on a reasonable level the wages are below those in this country.

Educational programs here was of interest to the tourist family since Mrs. Wynne is involved in student teaching at home.

New Zealand schools follow a program of three terms which is continued year long with holiday sessions set for seven weeks in December and January, two weeks in May and an additional two weeks in August.

After students have completed their studies, Governor James R. Thompson last week appointed J. Thomas Johnson as director of the Revenue Department, Edgar F. Callahan to lead the Department of Internal Institutions, David Kenney as director of the Conservation Department, and James B. Zagel as head of the Law Enforcement Department.

Illinois motorists using gasoline will receive a tax break for the next few years under a new law removing the four percent state sales tax until July 1982, with one percent restored at that time, two percent in July 1983, three percent in July 1984 and four percent in July 1985.

Circuit Judge Philip J. Rarick withdrew Friday from sentencing of Arlin W. Davis on reckless homicide in the Dec. 31, 1979, traffic deaths of three Granite Cityans. The task was reassigned to Circuit Judge A. A. Mattoesian.

runs over the eastern plains and foothills of South Island, and are found in several other parts of the country. Breeders have developed a sheep which yields good meat as well as good wool, and New Zealand leads the world in the export of mutton.

Dave Wynne is an employee of an air line in New Zealand, and he and his wife motor 50 miles each day to work.

Sonya Wynne and Laura Austin, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Austin, 2208 Della Ave., plan to continue their communication through letters when the Wynne family returns to their home.

During the week long visit the two young girls have had the opportunity to exchange ideas of interest to teenagers the world over.

Weber pledges to protect those opposing sewer tax

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

Madison County State's Attorney Dan Weber has pledged to protect residents of the special sewer district (portions of Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships) who are protesting their sewer taxes if they have filed a certificate of error or have paid their taxes under protest.

The hearing of certificates of error concerning the sewer tax will be suspended until a final legislative solution to the problem is found, he stated.

In a letter to the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, Weber pledged to seek speedy legislative action to give final relief to those unfairly in the sewer district and urged those who feel they should not be paying the sewer tax to pay their taxes under protest to the county and await the legislative action.

Weber said his study of court decisions on similar cases indicates the sewer tax may legally be imposed upon those in the district who will not immediately receive sewer service, as well as those who are currently using Granite City sewers and do not need the county sewers.

In "Andrews versus the county of Madison," Weber notes, the Fifth District Appellate Court ruled that "the tax was legal and constitutional as applied to the residents in question."

However, he added, "The Appellate Court specifically stated that legislative action could provide relief for the residents," and said his office is recommending that the Madison County Board take the appropriate action to remove from the sewer district those residents who will not be served by the new sewers, including those who already are served by Granite City sewers.

"However, there are many technical legal details to be considered before any possible legislative action can be taken. The state's attorney's office will make every attempt to find a legal and expeditious solution for the residents," the letter continues.

In order to protect those involved from losing their homes for failure to pay their taxes, Weber is making several suggestions and pledged to try and protect those residents meeting the following guidelines.

1) "If a resident has filed an application for a certificate of error under direction from the former state's attorney, he should wait for legislative action. The certificate of error procedure will be suspended until a final legislative action is taken."

2) "If a resident has paid the tax under protest, the resident will be protected and should wait for the legislative action."

3) "If a resident has not filed a certificate of error or paid the tax under protest, then the resident should pay the tax under protest, and await legislative action."

He pledged in the letter, "The state's attorney's office will work with the county board in an attempt to formulate a definite and speedy resolution to the problem."

Man robs GC store

A man aged 32 to 35 is being sought for an armed robbery in which $19 was obtained at the 7-11 Store in downtown Granite City at 1:10 a.m. Friday.

His clothing included a tan corduroy jacket with fleece trim around the collar, and a flannel shirt. The man was 5-9 to six feet tall and was of average weight. He had brown wavy hair, with bushy eyebrows, and his face and hands were pockmarked.

The robber started to buy a pecan pie and then displayed a black handgun, possibly an automatic.

He demanded currency from the cash register. After a clerk handed him the money, he ran out, going toward the rear of the store.

Two injured on Nameoki Road

When Victoria Parker, 2321 Logan Ave., halted in traffic behind a truck in a southbound lane of Nameoki Road near Cottage Avenue at 5:20 p.m. Friday, the rear of her auto was hit by the front of the car of Eric Mattison, 3231 Maryville Road.

Lori Parker, 2804 Washington Ave., a passenger in the first vehicle, and Sonya Caldwell, 16, of No. 2 Middlesex Court, a passenger in the Mattison auto, were taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment. The latter sustained a head injury but was released.

Methodist clergymen workshop

A six-week workshop to teach clergy of the local district of the United Methodist Church to effectively communicate with aging adults will be held at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville starting Monday, Jan. 19.

Sponsored by the Office of Continuing Education, the workshop will meet on six consecutive Mondays from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. in the University Center's Kirkwood Room.

Lectures, exercises, simulations and discussions will seek to develop continuing education units will be awarded.

Topics covered will include biological and psychological aspects of aging, communication in a three-generation household, and alternatives to nursing homes.

Instructor for the course will be Robert Hawkins of the department of speech communication. Registration fee is $15, and continuing education units will be awarded.

INCREASE ASSESSOR SALARY MAXIMUMS
Governor James R. Thompson last week signed a law to raise the maximum salary schedule for township assessors in counties of less than one million population.

Maximum ranges under the old law were from $7,000 a year in counties below 9,000 population to $29,500 in those with 100,000 or more.

The new maximums are from $15,000 a year in counties below 9,000 to $32,500 in those of 75,000 or more. The schedule change is effective immediately. Individual town boards set the actual salaries.

Bell system offers ski reports

The Bell System last week began offering telephone ski reports, updated four times daily for 10 different ski regions in the United States. The American Telephone and Telegraph company said the service, called Dial-It-Ski Report, is available by dialing 900 plus seven digits.

It provides information on weather conditions, inches of snow on the ground, trail surface conditions, number of trails open, ski base in inches, number of ski lifts open and Nordic ski conditions.

Each call to the 55-second recording costs 50 cents plus tax. There are 10 separate "900" numbers providing regional ski information.

They are:
900-976-3700 Maine, New Hampshire, eastern Massachusetts and Rhode Island
900-976-3710 Vermont and central and northern New York

900-976-3720 Connecticut, western Massachusetts, southern New York, New Jersey and eastern Pennsylvania
900-976-3730 Maryland, western New York, western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia and North Carolina

900-976-3740 Ohio, Indiana and Michigan
900-976-3750 Illinois, Iowa,

Wisconsin and Minnesota
900-976-3760 North Dakota, South Dakota, Wyoming, Idaho and Montana
900-976-3770 Utah, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico
900-976-3780 Washington and Oregon
900-976-3790 California and Nevada

Each ski report — produced by Philip Camp Associates, Inc. of Woodstock, Vt. — is updated at 8:30 a.m., 11 a.m., 3 p.m. and 5 p.m. (local time). Also, daily wrap-ups will be available at 10 p.m. The reports will continue throughout the skiing season in each region.

The same Dial-It "900" network used for the ski report also is used by the Bell System to provide Dial-It National Sports on 900-976-1313.

In addition, the service can be used for national straw polls, such as those conducted by ABC television network following the Carter-Reagan presidential debate and by Midway television network during the Blue Bonnet Bowl last week.

Coin-telephone or operator-assisted calls cannot be made to "900" numbers.

Space shuttle nears its maiden flight

By RICHARD DORE

Welcome aboard Pan Am's flight to space station R orbiting 300 miles above earth. Lift-off will be in one hour.

You and 73 other passengers are tucked inside special pressure suits and are seated within the space shuttle's two-deck passenger compartment.

While there probably won't be flight attendants aboard serving drinks, this scenario is not very far from reality.

The space shuttle Columbia, built by Rockwell International Corp., is now resting on its two booster rockets and massive external fuel tank inside a special building in Florida.

The spaceship is being readied in High Bay No. 3 of the 52-story-high Vertical Assembly Building, and is scheduled for its first launch March 14 from the Kennedy Space Center on Cape Canaveral.

If Columbia completes its space tests and lands successfully at Edwards Air Force Base in Palmdale, Calif., 54.5 hours after its launch, the United States will have the first reusable spacecraft system, setting the stage for an unlimited space adventure.

"Twenty years ago, Vanguard put up a 2.5 pound ball. Now shuttle will put up a 65,000 pound payload. What will happen in another 20 years?" said Thomas O'Malley, who has overseen the shuttle project as Rockwell's vice president in charge of launch operations.

"There is no limit to the potential of the shuttle."

Things haven't always looked so rosy. America's delivery van to space, the reusable shuttle, was dying slowly, mired in government paperwork, management problems and technical difficulties.

In 1979, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration insisted that Rockwell, which builds the orbiter at its Downey and Palmdale facilities in California, bring in its top man to take over the beleaguered system.

Rockwell responded by sending in Charles H. Feltz, a space pioneer whose work goes back to 1955 as project engineer on the X-15 hypersonic research aircraft that took man to the fringes of space and back.

"The program needed a troubleshooter and I'm pretty well known as that," said Feltz, who has set up temporary quarters near the company's space division in Downey.

Bringing the 65-year-old Feltz back into the program apparently had an effect, because the shuttle system that is $3 billion over budget and two years behind schedule is finally moving toward launch.

Feltz was with the system when the shuttle was designed in 1969, and from 1970 to 1976 served as vice president and deputy program manager. In 1976 he was named vice president of aerospace operations for Rockwell.

Feltz has witnessed many space milestones over the years, but he and other Rockwell officials believe the advent of the shuttle will be the most significant event in space history.

Initially, the 122-foot Columbia will make four test flights instead of the originally scheduled six, and 1,800 tests will be conducted during those flights.

"We didn't cut back from six to four to save costs," Feltz said. "We got smarter.

We built a better program. If we determine something is not right, then we will fly another. But I'm not sure we will even need the four."

Columbia will make the first eight shuttle flights, and is scheduled in late 1982 to carry its first space package, a tracking data relay satellite built by TRW.

Also on that flight, the fifth in the series, will be the first inertial upper stage, the rocket attachment that will power the satellites to orbits 22,300 miles above earth.

Through 1991, the fleet of shuttles is expected to make 400 flights. Powered by rockets into space, the stubby delta-wing crafts glide back to earth at either the Kennedy Space Center, or Vandenberg Air Force Base in California.

"We will be able to cover fantastic distances through space," said Richard Schwartz, executive vice president of Rockwell's shuttle program. "And by the year 2001, we could have space stations."

Schwartz predicts the shuttle will help revolutionize many manufacturing processes because it allows scientists to work free of gravity in the weightlessness of space.

There is a potential, he said, for man to develop near-perfect crystals for lenses and ball bearings that would be so round they could practically last forever.

Scientists anticipate medicines that can't be developed on earth will become reality in space, and one of the best-known projects carried by the shuttle is Spacelab.

Developed by NASA and the European Space Agency, Spacelab takes up the entire 15-by-60-foot shuttle cargo bay, and will take researchers and scientists into space for experiments.

Unlike Skylab, Spacelab will return with the shuttle and is planned for several missions. Up to seven people, including the flight crew, can travel in the shut-

Robin would like a human role next

By NANCY ANDERSON

BEVERLY HILLS — "I'd like to get away from the rubber," Robin Williams confided as he tried to chew chicken.

He, Shelley Duvall and Paul Dooley were being cathected during lunch at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel the day after the premiere of "Popeye," a $20 million movie in which they star.

Williams is the Sailor Man, having come to the role after Dustin Hoffman turned it down, because he didn't like the script.

Duvall is a perfect Olive Oyl having come to role after Gilda Radner turned it down on general principles.

And Dooley is Wimpy, having gained 20 pounds to play the role into which director Bob Altman literally shoved him.

When Williams said that he'd "like to get away from the rubber," he wasn't criticizing the Beverly Wilshire's excellent food but, rather, answering a question about his acting aims.

Since "Popeye" is a cartoon character and Mork, his television alter ego, an Orki-tle, although three other people can be accommodated in an emergency.

Aside from the medical, industrial and earth observation benefits, Schwartz said, the shuttle offers the most efficient system to date to transport materials into space to develop large, permanent stations.

The most ambitious one planned is the massive solar power satellite, a structure 17.5 miles by 7 miles designed to transmit solar power from space to ground stations for dispersal to the various cities.

Along with this, he said, will come transmission antennae a mile wide that would enable people to practically wear communication devices on their wrists.

Many of the future plans, including a system to get people to the moon after they take the shuttle into low-earth orbit, could depend on a super shuttle, Feltz said.

"We already are working on upgrading the shuttle and making heavy-lift vehicles for even bigger payloads," he said.

an, Williams had been asked if he hopes to play a more straightforward and human role soon. Would he like to play the boy next door or a young man about town?

That's when he said he'd like to get away from the rubber meaning the latex and the padding which converted him into Popeye.

And, yes, he said, he would like to try a straight dramatic role without gimmicky makeup and unearthly dialogue.

As Popeye, Robin went through at least 40 pairs of arms, padded devices which slipped over his own forearms to give him comic strip sinews.

When he moved, the latex tended to tear, so a steady supply of replacement forearms was required.

The demand was such that one woman was kept busy all day, every day sewing hair on Williams' artificial skin.

As for his genuine skin, it suffered from the Popeye makeup, because Robin's hair including that on his chest was bleached for the role, and the bleach, when misapplied, burned.

Robin did all of his own stunts except for a series of backflips down a ramp and came through without mishap until the final fight scene when a flying can of spinach clipped his head.

Asked why he thinks "Mork and Mindy" dropped in the ratings last season, Williams blamed the time change and the sexier tone of some of the shows.

"When Raquel Welch was a guest, parents were saying, 'Go to bed, Junior. Don't look.'"

Duvall, who made her film debut under Altman's auspices in "Brewster McCloud" and who'd made five other films with him before "Popeye," almost lost the Olive Oyl role, because Paramount considered her an Altman cult actress and not bankable.

Just prior to "Popeye," she'd made "The Shining" for Stanley Kubrick, so she was asked which director she prefers.

"Well," she said, "you have to remember this was my seventh picture for Altman, and that was my first for Kubrick."

"But I'll take Altman. ".....For Altman, making the picture is as important as the picture itself."

A star who made his acting debut in "Popeye" and who stole every scene he was in missed the luncheon, because, after the premiere the night before, he needed his nap.

"Wesley Ivan Hurt who played Sweet pea is Altman's grandson and possibly the most winsome child to face a camera since Shirley Temple retired.

As one preview goer observed, "No matter how the movie's received, Altman's got some great film of his grandchild."

"Yeah," said another, "he may have the most expensive home movies in history."

"Popeye" is not perfect entertainment. Early action is slow and much of the dialogue is hard to understand.

But when Poopdeck Pappy saves Sweet pea from the octopus, the premiere audience applauded. And when Popeye knocked the octopus out of the ocean and saved Olive Oyl, the audience cheered.

Susan St. James, attending with her son and daughter, beamed, "We just loved it. We're going to see it at least three times."

Try leaving on a flight of fancy.

It's one thing to sit around and dream of faraway places. But when you decide to go, you've got to come up with a ticket. Wishing won't make it so. Saving will get you there. One of the easiest, safest ways to save is to buy U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan. A little is taken out of each paycheck automatically. And the Bonds will eventually grow into a first-class ticket to anywhere.

Nothing is too far. Tahiti, London, Paris, Rome. Even a trip around the world. Or just a long vacation on a Caribbean island. Anywhere.

So go ahead, take a flight of fancy. Then start buying Bonds so you can take a fancy flight.

Take stock in America.

When you put part of your savings into U.S. Savings Bonds you're helping to build a brighter future for your country and for yourself.
